

COMPASS

Technology that will skyrocket your product sales and have customers rushing to join your downline.

Have you ever found it difficult to decide which nutritional supplements you should be taking or helping your customers make the same decision for themselves? Often you're just making your best guess based on how your customers are feeling or what they think they need. Wouldn't it be nice if you could ask their body what it preferred? With the Compass you can.

COMPASS

How It Works

The Compass combines the power of dynamic changes in the electrical properties of the skin with ZYTO's Decision Support Technology software.

When your customer places his hand on the Compass hand cradle, the Compass software sends a sequence of stimuli and records each response. It's like asking the body questions about your nutritional products and listening to its answers. Each response is ranked according to the body's product preference. Armed with this new information your customers will feel more positive about purchasing and using your products.

Separate Yourself From the Competition

Having the Compass means you will be on the cutting edge of technology when you meet with customers and potential recruits. In turn, this technology will give them more peace of mind about their decision to purchase product from you. Prospective downline recruits will see the benefits the Compass has in increasing customer satisfaction with product sales. These benefits, will translate into higher profits.

Help More People, Build Your Downline

Your experience as a Network Marketer can dramatically change with the Compass. Your customers will be excited about this new information they have from their body. Information never available before to help them in their decision process. You'll have more confidence in your ability to help your customers, as well as interest them in joining your team.
